Our Mission

Quick and Simple Imports is a direct importer with deep roots in the pet cremation industry. QSI specializes in supplying our clients with standard cremation products, but we also work to design and obtain custom products for our customers, too. At QSI, our mission is to connect businesses with quality products at near-manufactured pricing. Any industry, any item, we create safe and efficient supply chains that save our customers money.

Our Story

Quick and Simple Imports was founded in 2013 when two longtime friends, Ryan Bator and James Michalski, set out to start a business of their own.

Ryan was working at a pet crematory at the time, where he took a special interest in inventory and supply chain management. He experienced firsthand the challenges of maintaining supplies and keeping costs down for a growing cremation business, and this inspired him to find a solution for his employers.

James, who has over a decade of experience in the financial services industry, knew this was an opportunity to not only improve the bottom line for pet crematories like Ryan's employers, but also as an opportunity to create and cultivate a business founded on providing quick and simple solutions to inventory and product sourcing problems.

So, the two set out to solve their first customer's problem and QSI was founded.

From the onset, Ryan and James knew that QSI's strong foundation set them apart from other importers. Ryan's experience teaching abroad in China afforded the pair the ability to assemble a skilled, dependable team overseas. After months of research and multiple visits to China and India, the team at QSI not only located reputable factories to manufacture their customers' products, but they were also able to import and sell them for nearly 30% less than what their customers were accustomed to paying.

Today, QSI continues to source products for crematories and other small businesses from all over the world while also offering full supply chain management, freight forwarding, warehousing, and distribution services.

While QSI imports products for many different industries, Ryan and James have stayed loyal to where it all began: pet cremation supplies. QSI has expanded their product offering for 2025, and now proudly imports an even wider selection of standard and custom pet cremation supplies, all available to you at industry-best prices. We invite you to explore our collection of products featured in this catalog and look forward to receiving your call!

Clasp MDF Urns

Small: 40 CI, Large: 128 CI, Extra Large: 171 CI

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION:

Elegant yet affordable MDF urns. Most of today's standard pet urns are designed to lock away your pet friend, never to be seen again. However, QSI wanted to make "seeing" them easier while still maintaining the sanctity of their cremated remains. That is why we designed a clasp urn that opens to reveal a beautiful, natural burlap pouch holding a pet's remains, with enough room to also store a collar or favorite small toy.

Testimonial

“We have been working with the team at QSI for over a decade now. They have been a great partner, not only helping us to streamline our purchasing, but also upgrading our value offering to clients. This is the case most notably with the gold clasp urn they sourced for us. It is a great product, at a price point that allowed us to include it as our standard option. It EXCEEDS clients expectations, which is exactly what we wanted to accomplish. The team at QSI has gone above and beyond through the years to exceed OUR expectations, which is what I want as a customer.”

Bamboo Urns

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION:

If you're seeking more eco-friendly urn options, then our natural bamboo urns are a great choice. Bamboo is a fast growing and naturally renewable tree-like grass that thrives in the humid climates of Southeast Asia. One of the biggest environmental benefits of bamboo is its ability to absorb carbon dioxide and produce oxygen. Compared to an equivalent tree mass, bamboo can produce up to 35% more oxygen. It also grows at a much faster rate than trees do, and some species can grow up to 3 feet per day! Recent studies show that nearly 75% of U.S. consumers are now basing purchasing decisions off how eco-friendly a product is. So, QSI is now proudly importing a full line of eco-friendly bamboo clasp urns, slide bottom urns, and scatter tubes.

Mango Urns

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION:

When most people hear the word mango, they immediately think of a delicious tropical fruit. But did you know that Mango trees are also a highly sustainable type of hard wood? Mango trees grow incredibly fast and reach full maturity in only 10-15 years. As a means of comparison, Oak trees reach full maturity in 75 years. As the trees approach their maturity, they produce less, and less fruit and mango farmers eventually cut them down and replace them with younger fruit bearing trees. Since they grow so fast and would be cut down by farmers anyways, it makes mango a well-priced, sustainable hardwood suitable for making our entire line of mango wood urn products.

"PPA has worked closely with QSI for the past two years in providing high quality urns for our families to memorialize their pets. Not only do they thoroughly communicate all details of their ordering process but ensure the order is right every time.

Their latest product, Mango Slide Bottom Urn, has hit the mark! This product is in line with our mission as an environmentally sustainable product much like our water cremation process. The wood grain has a beautiful color and finish that allows for easy engraving. We are very pleased with QSI and how they assist us from start to finish of every order."
